May Be Brought Down To-morrow

Canadian Press
 Ottawa, May 16.—The government intends introducing the redistribution bill at the present session of Parliament, Premier Bennett so informed the Commons this afternoon.

Mr. Bennett said it might be introduced to-morrow forenoon.

As far as the committee's work was concerned, the Prime Minister regretted some members were not satisfied, but he said that often happened. The Premier recalled that ten years ago the matter had been disposed of in a few days. Having regard to the fact this was now the year 1933, there was some anxiety the bill should be enacted. If the bill could not be put through by consent, then it might be necessary to invoke the aid of that authority which British institutions gave to the majority, Mr. Bennett declared.

EXPORTS LESS THAN IMPORTS

Canadian Press
 Ottawa, May 16.—Total exports of Canadian produce during the month of April were valued at $20,011,652, according to figures issued by the Department of National Revenue to-day. During April, 1932, domestic products were exported to the value of $26,927,756.

Imports which entered the Dominion during April were valued at $20,457,294, as compared with $29,794,296 in the corresponding month a year ago. Of the total imports which came 1933 Canada last month, free goods were valued at $7,489,618, while those paying duties amounted to $12,967,676. The largest single article of export during the month just ended was newsprint, exports of newsprint during April amounted to 262,744 hundredweight, valued at $1,440,214 bushels, but the value of the wheat exports was only $2,315,239.

Pacific Trade Flow Will Be Reviewed

Ottawa Reports Prepared For Science Congress Meeting in Victoria

General Secretary, Now in City, Outlines Convention Subjects

Statistics dealing with trade on the Pacific, compiled from the trade reports of Pacific countries, will indicate the flow of trade across the Pacific in all directions, stated S. J. Cook, general secretary of the Fifth Pacific Science Congress in an interview at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening.

The statistics have been compiled by R. H. Coates, chief statistician of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, and will serve to emphasize the importance of the contribution of each country to the commerce of the Pacific Ocean. A surprising proportion of the total trade of each country is with other countries bordering on the Pacific. The chart and graphs are being made under the authority of Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce. A digest has been prepared by Mr. Coates stressing the significance of the chart to those interested in gaining trade with other countries that border on the Pacific Ocean.

B. C. FIORDS
 The controversial subject of the origin and significance of the fiords of the coast will be the subject for one symposium, Mr. Cook said. This meeting will attempt to bring together the facts that might shed some light on the mystery that surrounds these rock-tipped, glacier-formed indentures from the ocean. The life of these bodies of water is quite different from that found in the surrounding ocean and the dissolved chemical salts vary a good deal from those found in ordinary ocean water.

Among the papers to be presented regarding this subject are two prepared (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

While the bridegroom of yesterday's police headquarters wedding prepared to-day to serve a month in jail, steps were being taken by the city police to put a stop to the practice as far as the local police station is concerned, it is understood.

Since the man who became a husband yesterday was a Sanich prisoner, the city police had nothing to do with the ceremony. However, there appears to be some doubt as to certain legal aspects of the action and Chief Thomas Hestley said this morning they would be investigated.

It was the second marriage of its kind to occur here within the last two years.

Municipal Delegates Express Dissatisfaction at Terms of Joint Agreement

Cuts in all municipal relief administered in British Columbia, to correspond with reductions recently effected in provincial and federal contributions by the new agreement between the province and Dominion, will become effective immediately, it was learned this morning following a meeting between the relief committee of the Union of Municipalities of B.C.

The general reductions will have to follow, Reeve Crouch pointed out, as practically all municipalities and cities have completed their 1933 budgets, and are totally unprepared for this additional cost.

A special clause is inserted in the agreement which provides for the Dominion Government accepting a larger proportion of the relief costs of any municipality during the above mentioned period if it is recommended by the province. The recommendation to his effect, it is understood, must come from the Inspector of Municipalities.

Action by the municipalities on the new plan is contemplated immediately, stated Reeve Crouch, who will call an executive meeting of the union probably on Friday next in Vancouver. Following this, he said, there will probably be three more sessions, on Vancouver Island, the Lower Mainland and in the Interior, where all delegates will be offered an opportunity to hear the terms of the agreement.

Those attending the conference to-day in addition to members of the unemployment committee of the cabinet were Reeve Crouch, Mayor David Leeming, Victoria, Alderman W. W. Smith of Vancouver, and W. R. Bone, Vancouver relief officer.

He expected the appointment of the commission would be made between now and June 15, Mr. Bennett said the body might get to work before July 31.

LIVING COSTS BEGIN TO RISE

Food Prices, Rents and Services Showed Increase During April

Decline Reported in Cost of Men's and Women's Clothing, Reports Say

The cost of living in Canada is beginning to advance through higher costs of rents, services and food, according to figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics received in Victoria to-day.

The index number of retail prices, rents and costs of services rose from 78.4 in March to 78.5 for April.

An index of retail prices alone, calculated without services or rentals, advanced from 69.3 to 69.2, while an index excluding foods, rents and services was unchanged at 76.7.

For forty-six food items the index advanced from 60.4 to 61.3, higher prices for sugar, butter, lard, cheese, and most meats influencing the index more than losses for milk, bread, eggs, canned salmon and pepper.

The fuel and lighting index fell from 88.9 to 88.5, declines in the sub-groups for coal and coke exerting more influence than advances in wood prices.

The index for clothing has been revised back to March in order to indicate a decline from 62.2 to 62.1.

Both men's and women's clothing contributed to this movement, the decline continued to be sharper in the case of the latter.

Associated Press
 Tokyo, May 16.—Japan dispatches from the north China front to-day said the Chinese troops were in disorderly retreat and making desperate preparations for a stand along a defence line only thirty miles east of the ancient capital of Peiping.

Rengo (Japanese) news agency dispatches said this defence line would extend through Tungchow, Shunyi and Hwalju.

Air scouts reported the rearmost Chinese columns already had passed through Yutien, Tankshan and Kai-ping. Those cities are seventy to 100 miles east of Peiping. According to Japanese sources, they had not yet been occupied by the advancing army of Japan.

U.S. SCHOOL CLOSED
 Peiping, May 16.—Officials of the American Board of Missions at Tungchow, thirteen miles east of here, to-day ordered the immediate suspension of the north China American school there, acting on the advice of the United States legation to evacuate the town.

The legation had heard rumors the Japanese would attempt to occupy the town. About thirty missionaries comprising the United States community there.

 Former Chairman of National City Bank of New York Faces Income Tax Charge
 New York, May 16.—Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank of New York, was charged in Federal Court to-day with having defrauded the government of $850,428 in taxes on an income of more than $4,000,000 by spurious sales of securities.

In his opening address to the jury, United States Attorney George Z. Meade asserted these were not in reality sales at all, and referred to the financier's actions as sham and pretence undertaken with the purpose of defrauding the government.

The alleged illegal acts of the former banker were carried out as to his income taxes of 1929 and 1930. In both those years he filed returns, but he cited sales of securities which made what the government says was an enormous profit into an apparent loss. He paid no tax either year.

There is little definite information obtainable concerning the discovery, but it is understood that the prospectors who made it have returned to stake out the ground, preparatory to continuing the development of their find.

French Report Says Council of Ambassadors May Meet Soon

Associated Press
 Paris, May 16.—As a national defence measure Paris factories were ordered to-day to report to the "Passive Defence Bureau" within a month on the number of their employees and on their capacity.

This move came as the nation was waiting for Chancellor Hitler's important pronouncement before the German Reichstag to-morrow on the German policy in regard to rearmament.

Jean Chappie, prefect of police, issued the order to the Paris factories. It applied to all establishments employing more than 500 workers, and to metal, wood, food, chemical, clothing and banking concerns, as well as army supply plants.

AMBASSADORS' COUNCIL
 The Council of Ambassadors, the executive body of the Treaty of Versailles, may shortly resume activity as a result of the controversy over German arms problem, it was learned to-day.

Paris and London are busily discussing the revival of the council in anticipation of renewed application of the treaty provisions. The council is presided over by Jules Cambon, veteran French diplomat.

For several years this executive group has been idle, but still maintains its office.

Resumption of activity by the council is being discussed in connection with two world-wide declarations, one by Chancellor Hitler and the other by President Roosevelt.

The President, it was said in government circles, had been urged by Paris and London to present his disarmament views in the form of a declaration, a common opposition of the powers to German rearmament, and its consequences.

Says Tax Board Acts Illegal
 Officials Must Follow Law Minutely, Mayers Tells Court, in Cawston Fruit Case

Taxing officials must follow procedure minutely as laid down in the statute and must not act "at their own convenience," E. C. Mayers, K.C., told Mr. Justice Fisher of the Supreme Court here to-day, supporting his contention by cases, in his argument on a motion for judgment in the suit of Ella Lowe against the Cawston, B.C., Irrigation District. The motion follows an injunction recently granted Mrs. Lowe against the irrigation board prohibiting it from selling her 400-acre fruit ranch for taxes amounting to $2,512.60.

Mr. Mayers urged that the actions of the irrigation board and of its chairman, George Wainwright, were illegal. The case is considered of importance because if Mrs. Lowe wins again in this action, the liability of other holders in the Cawston irrigation district, which was originally linked with the Similkameen Fruit Lands Co. Ltd., will be affected. The case is complicated by trustees, no notice of tax sale had been given as required by law, and the notice that was given was defective in a number of particulars. He pointed out that it was admitted three out of the five trustees of the district were disqualified, so it was impossible to carry out a qualified quorum of trustees as required by the law.

"There has been a total lack of jurisdiction in the taxing body here," Mr. Mayers went on, quoting from the affidavit of Mr. Wainwright that he had carried out his duties "in a certain manner 'as a matter of convenience.'" (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Price of Water In Greater Victoria Is Again Live Issue

Council Plans Extensive Survey Into Matter of Rates and Charges

Oak Bay Agreement Under Fire By One Alderman at Council Meeting

Water will be a live issue in civic circles for the next few months, it was indicated yesterday evening, when the City Council discussed it for nearly half an hour and wound up by passing a motion instructing the water committee and city comptroller and water commissioner to investigate the whole matter of rates charged for the service.

The matter will be attacked from two angles:

First, revision of rates generally. Second, possibility of getting more revenue from outside municipalities. The special water committee of the council has already moved in the matter, as far as it affects the city's relationship with Saanich over rates to be fixed for a new agreement with that municipality. Whether or not the rate to be charged will be settled by arbitration or without is yet undecided, the mayor said.

MUNICIPALITY MADE MONEY?
 In the course of the discussion, Alderman W. D. Todd declared one municipal map $15,000 or $20,000 out of its water service last year. If anyone should make money it should be the city, which had all the capital invested in waterworks, he said.

"Why blame Mr. Ansoncomb?" asked Alderman James Adam. "Because he engineered it all," retorted Alderman Williams.

The mayor then pointed out that the price paid by Oak Bay for water was fixed by a board of arbitration and was settled independently of the city. Oak Bay was now paying more for water than Saanich due to the fact that the Oak Bay supply was conveyed a greater distance through city pipes.

The mayor also forecast camera sessions on the water question, stating there were several angles which could not be threaded out fully in public. It might take several months to complete the survey. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

U.S. President Suggests to Fifty-four Nations That No Troops Be Sent Across Any Frontier; Urges All to Work for Success of Economic Conference at London and Disarmament Conference at Geneva

Canadian Press and Associated Press
 Washington, May 16.—President Roosevelt asked the world to-day to give up offensive weapons of war and unite for peace and economic recovery.

In a message immediately interpreted on Capitol Hill as constituting particularly plain speaking to Germany, the President admonished foreign potentates to give up "petty" national aims, or the civilized world would know where to place the blame.

Dispatched unheralded to fifty-four foreign capitals just on the eve of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's expected announcement of German policy, the message was a diplomatic sensation of the first magnitude.

It proposed no armed troops whatsoever should be sent across any frontier, and when other peoples are offended by breaking its armament agreements.

GERMANY AND JAPAN
 He mentioned no nation by name, but his words rang through the diplomatic world with dramatic significance at a moment when certain leaders in Germany are asking for greater armaments, when Japanese troops are marching deeper into the territory of China, and when other peoples are suspected of harboring aspirations to acquire new territory by force.

For the United States, the plain words of the declaration point to abstention from further incursions by American marines into any Latin-American country. They hint at a status quo with respect to the United States forces now stationed, by treaty, in portions of China.

As an immediate goal, the President asked success for the Geneva Disarmament Conference and the Economic Conference soon to meet in London. He proposed:

Adoption at Geneva of Prime Minister MacDonald's plan to reduce the armaments of France, since those of Germany and set up a consultative pact to promote peace.

Agreement on the time and place of a later conference to carry these steps still further.

NO INCREASES
 An agreement meantime that no nation shall increase its existing armaments.

And a promise by all nations, provided the terms of arms limitation are faithfully kept, that they will send no armed force of whatsoever nature across their frontiers.

"Common sense points out that if genuine sincerity in these concerted efforts for political and economic peace, the one at Geneva and the other at London, progress can be obstructed and ultimately blocked," said Mr. Roosevelt.

"In such event the civilized world, seeking both forms of peace, will know where the responsibility for failure lies."

ADDRESSED TO HEADS
 The message, contrary to long-standing diplomatic practice, was addressed directly to the Kings, Emperors and presidents of all of the fifty-four nations to be represented at London, including Russia. It was signed just "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

It went by radio in the early to-day in direct language, without the usual protection of diplomatic code.

Within a space of a few hours it would be before the eyes of every great nation around the globe, and most of the smaller ones.

"Officials here indicated they did not consider inclusion of Russia among the recipients as in any sense a gesture of United States recognition of Russia. Although this was the first direct diplomatic message to pass for action between Washington and the Russian ruling powers, it was described as merely representing a conviction that such a step as the President proposed could not succeed unless it had universal acceptance."

DIPLOMATS SURPRISED
 Mr. Roosevelt's bold bid for a new world order surprised even some of the diplomats who have been directly associated with the conversation. Its progress here preliminary to the London conference. His direct manner of striking at the obstacles developing beforehand had not been anticipated.

"No United States official would comment on publication of the message with respect to individual nations. So far as formal comment was concerned, it might have been just coincidence that the appeal, with its words of admonition, was issued just on the eve of Chancellor Adolf Hitler's pronouncement of German policy to be delivered before the Reichstag to-morrow.

TEXT OF MESSAGE
 The text of President Roosevelt's message follows:

"A profound hope of the people of my country impels me, as the head of your government, to address you and, through you, the people of your nation. This hope is that peace may be assured through practical measures of disarmament, and that all of us may carry to victory our common struggle against economic chaos." (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

U. S. Head Urges Nations Avoid Aggression

"To these ends the nations have called two great world conferences. The happiness, the prosperity and the very lives of the men, women and children who inhabit the whole world are bound up in the decisions which their governments will make in the near future. The improvement of social conditions, the preservation of individual human rights, and the furtherance of social justice are dependent upon these decisions.

"The World Economic Conference will meet soon and must come to its conclusions quickly. The world can not await deliberations long drawn out. The conference must establish order in place of the present chaos by a stabilization of currencies, by freeing the flow of world trade, and by international action to raise price levels. It must, in short, supplement individual domestic programmes for economic recovery by wise and considered international action.

DISARMAMENT EFFORTS
"The Disarmament Conference has labored for more than a year and, as yet, has been unable to reach satisfactory conclusions. Confused purposes still clash dangerously. Our duty lies in the direction of bringing practical results through concerted action based on the greatest good to the greatest number. Before the imperative call of this great duty, petty obstacles must be swept away and petty aims forgotten. A selfish victory for one nation to be an ultimate defeat. The furtherance of durable peace for our generation in every part of the world is the only goal worthy of our best efforts.

DEFENCE AND AGGRESSION
"If we ask what are the reasons for armaments, which, in spite of the lessons and tragedies of the World War are to-day a greater burden on the peoples of the earth than ever before, it becomes clear that they are twofold:

"First, the desire, disclosed or hidden, on the part of governments to enlarge their territory at the expense of a sister nation. I believe that only a small minority of governments or of peoples harbor such a purpose.

"Second, the desire to overcome the overwhelming majority of peoples feel obliged to retain excessive armaments because they fear some act of aggression against them and not because they fear some act of aggression against themselves and not because they themselves seek to aggress.

"There is justification for this fear. Modern weapons of offence are vastly stronger than modern weapons of defence. Frontiers, fortifications, wire entanglements, coast defences—in a word, fixed fortifications—are no longer impregnable to the attack of war planes, heavy mobile artillery, land battleships, tanks, and poison gas.

TO ELIMINATE WEAPONS
"If all nations will agree wholly to eliminate from possession and use the weapons which make possible a successful campaign, defences automatically will become impregnable and the frontiers and independence of every nation will become secure.

"The ultimate objective of the Disarmament Conference must be the complete elimination of all offensive weapons. The immediate objective is a substantial reduction of some of these weapons and the elimination of many others.

"This government believes the programme for immediate reduction of aggressive weapons, now under discussion at Geneva, is but a first step toward our ultimate goal. We do not believe.

B.C.-ALBERTA RELIEF TALK

Report Dominion to Cease Payments Discussed at Calgary Conference

Calgary, May 16.—Vancouver and Calgary officials gathered in conference here to-day and discussed what were described as "semi-official reports from Ottawa" regarding the Dominion Government's intention of withdrawing direct contributions to provinces and cities during August and September.

J. B. Williams, Vancouver city solicitor, joined in conference with Mayor Andy Davidson and Calgary's solicitor, L. W. Brockington, K.C., all expressing the view that a serious situation would develop if the Dominion administration should refuse direct relief.

Mayor Andy Davidson stated he had requested Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta to secure, if possible, some official pronouncement from Ottawa on the question.

REDUCTION OF SHARE
According to Mr. Williams, Vancouver officials understood some agreement had been arrived at between the Dominion Government and the British Columbia administration on a reduction in the federal government's share of direct relief. Mr. Williams added the city of Vancouver was still awaiting some definite word before taking action.

Premier Brownlee, at present visiting Calgary, said he had not been notified by the Dominion Government of any change in the present unemployment relief plan, under which the Dominion, provinces and cities bear a three-way share of all money expended on unemployed persons.

Mr. Brownlee said an effort would be made to secure direct information from Ottawa.

WHEAT TRADE
Mr. Williams also conferred with Henry Wood, chairman of the Alberta Wheat Pool, and other pool heads. This conference was described as a step toward closer contact between the wheat pool and the Dominion Government.

Mr. Williams emphasized the importance of Alberta grain shipments to Vancouver, this province's main export outlet.

Mr. Jenness, the organizing chairman for this section, has organized all the material available and has contributed two papers on the subject. The total number of papers on this one subject number almost twenty-five.

The three other symposia for the Congress will deal with the recent geological and biological studies of the Pacific Northwest, and the future of the region.

It has been planned by the executive of the Congress this year to have the morning sessions of more general interest. At previous congresses the meetings were nearly all sectional but the plan this year is to hold meetings that will interest everybody in the morning and afternoon for the more technical sectional work. All sessions of the congress will be open to the general public. The meetings to be held in Victoria will include the first symposium of the congress on Saturday morning, June 3; the official opening on Thursday morning, June 1 and the general meeting on Friday morning.

HITLER TALKS WITH CHIEF

Consults German President Before Speaking To-morrow on International Affairs

Arms Question Uppermost as Reichstag Members Gather For Session

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Berlin, May 16.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler prepared to-day for his momentous pronouncement on disarmament at to-morrow's special session by holding a confidential conference with President Paul von Hindenburg.

The whole field of foreign politics was discussed at the conference, with special emphasis on the disarmament issue, which has faced the Chancellor since the signing of the Versailles treaty. In order to obtain the latest information from Geneva, Hitler also conferred with Count Rudolf Nodding, German delegate to the Disarmament Conference, who had been summoned home for this purpose.

ARMS EQUALITY
Meanwhile a Foreign Office spokesman, indignantly asking whether the Geneva negotiators did not wish to sit at the table with Germany, reiterated the German demands for arms equality.

Charging other powers with adventuring to neglect their treaty obligations, which "marks a relapse into the times of fifteen years ago," the spokesman declared that it was of any sense to shoulder new obligations without advance concessions from other countries.

SHIP'S CREW IS STRANDED

Owners of Freighter Refuse to Pay Return Fares From Vancouver to Halifax

Plight of Men of Canadian Importer Results in Appeal to Japanese Consul

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 16.—Fifteen stranded sailors helped to bring the steamship Canadian Importer, recently sold to Japanese interests, from Halifax, to Vancouver made a personal appeal to Mayor Louis D. Taylor this morning.

The men explained they had signed on at Halifax and arrived in Vancouver a few days ago. They were in charge of the vessel when it was returned east, their fares having been paid by the Japanese firm which brought the ship.

The men, represented by the Yamashita Shipping Co., refuse to pay the return fares of the deck and engine room crews with the rest of the men are stranded in Vancouver.

Most of the fifteen are married men with homes in Halifax, it is stated. They earned from $35 to $50 each on their westbound voyage, and they could not pay railroad fares back to their homes even if they wished to do so.

The mayor promised to inquire into the matter, and will possibly assist the men in their appeal to the Japanese consul here.

There is a possibility the men will become a relief charge and the mayor referred the matter to the relief department, which is communicating with the provincial relief officials.

RAILWAY SALE PLAN OPPOSED

Nanking, China, May 16.—An emphatic protest against sale by the Soviet Government of the Chinese Eastern Railway was contained in a note dispatched by the Nationalist Government to Moscow yesterday.

The Chinese Government declares that the Soviet authorities' contemplated action shows a disregard of treaty obligations as well as an inclination to conclude "an unlawful transaction with an unlawful regime."

The communication asserts that under the 1924 agreements the Soviet Government has absolutely no right to assign in any form its interest in the railway without China's consent. The suggested transfer of Soviet interests, the note declares, would be tantamount to recognition of Manchukuo and to aid the cause of Japan.

Report Comes From R.C.M.P. on Canada's Far Northern Coast

Drama of Ah-Igaik and the Sub-Arctic Involves the Eternal Triangle

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 16.—The law of the white man has again asserted itself among the aboriginal inhabitants of the sub-Arctic, and because he broke that law, Ah-Igaik, a member of the Sheraton Inlet Eskimos of the Adelaide Peninsula, is in the guardroom of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at St. Roch, a R.C.M.P. post in the north-west territories, awaiting trial for murder.

Information that the native had been arrested for a "crime committed a year ago" reached headquarters of the corps in Ottawa to-day.

The story of the slaying and the arrest is a story of the eternal triangle.

Ah-Igaik killed Amarak because the latter had made objectionable advances to Ah-Igaik's wife. Amarak was a bad man, and in shooting him the slayer was "actuated by fear and jealousy," so declared the brief report submitted to the headquarters of the Mounted.

News of the crime, the scene of which was laid in the vast tundras region which is the Adelaide Peninsula, on the mainland immediately south of King William Island, was first conveyed to Constable A. S. Wilson at Cambridge Bay in a letter from L. A. Learmonth, superintendent of the Hudson's Bay Company post at Ojos Haven, King William Island, in May, 1932.

The murder had been committed some weeks before.

The information was four months in reaching Constable Wilson, who at once set out to investigate. When he reached Adelaide Peninsula, the Sheraton Inlet group of natives had traveled inland.

CONGRESS TOLD OF MESSAGE

Roosevelt Explains Why He Sent Peace Call to Fifty-four Nations

Associated Press
Washington, May 16.—President Roosevelt told the United States Congress in a special message to-day, he had proposed a world non-aggression pact "because it has become increasingly evident the assurance of world political and economic peace and stability is threatened by selfish and short-sighted policies, actions and threats of action."

Notifying an enthusiastic Congress of his direct message that had gone to fifty-four world leaders early in the morning, the President declared that the overwhelming majority of the nations "face the danger of recalcitrant obstruction by a very small minority."

"It is high time for us and for every nation," he said, "to understand the simple fact that the invasion of any nation, or the destruction of a national sovereignty, can be prevented only by the complete elimination of the nations that make such a course possible to-day."

BETTER LIVING
In part the message to Congress read:

"The deep-rooted desire of Americans for better living conditions and the progress of the world is shared by man in every country.

"As a means to this end, I have in the message to the various nations stressed the pressing necessity of reducing armaments."

"Permanent defences are a non-recurring charge against governmental budgets, while large armies, consular armies armed with improved offensive weapons constitute a recurring charge."

"This more than any other factor to-day is responsible for governmental deficits and threatened bankruptcies."

MUST DISARM
The way to disarm is to disarm. The way to prevent invasion is to make it impossible.

"Our people realize weapons of offence are needed only if other nations have them and they will freely give them up if all the nations of the world will do likewise."

"In the domestic field Congress has labored in sympathetic understanding for the improvement of social conditions, for the preservation of individual human rights, and for the furtherance of social justice."

"In the message to the nations which I herewith transmit, I have named the same objectives."

"It is in order to assure these great human values that we seek peace by reducing the world of the weapons of aggression and attack."

(Signed) "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

CASE SETTLED BY CITY'S HEAD

No More Litigation on Mayor Taylor's Property in Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 16.—Final has been written to all litigation affecting Mayor L. D. Taylor's property qualification.

A $1,078 judgment obtained by Hans Hansen, twenty-four-year-old Port Neville resident, nineteen years ago, against Mr. Taylor was released yesterday afternoon as a result of a settlement between the parties which it is understood, included a substantial payment by the defendant.

The judgment had been re-registered on February 20 against the mayor's qualification to remove the registration. At the suit of the mayor, Mr. Justice Murphy in the B.C. Supreme Court on March 20 ordered Registrar A. G. Smith, land titles office, Vancouver, to remove the registration.

As long as the Hansen judgment continued as a charge against the mayor's only qualifying property he was unable to meet the city's requirements of a $1,000 interest clear of encumbrances.

NO APPEAL
Following Mr. Justice Murphy's decision there was some talk of an appeal to be taken on Hansen's behalf. An appeal had to be launched within three months. If the Court of Appeal had reversed Mr. Justice Murphy's decision, Mayor Taylor would have been disqualified and out of office.

There will be no appeal. Hansen's judgment has been paid off and the mayor holds a release for it. The settlement also includes an action at the suit of five ratepayers to undo the registration.

AMOUNT NOT STATED
"The case is finished," said Mr. Ian Shaw, solicitor for Hansen, after completing a settlement with Alex Henderson, K.C., the mayor's legal adviser. The settlement was made in private. The parties were not disclosing the amount paid for Hansen's judgment, but it was a substantial payment, according to Mr. Shaw.

Satisfactory arrangements have been made between Mr. Shaw and myself whereby all matters respecting Mayor Taylor's qualifications have been withdrawn from the courts," said Mr. Henderson.

"Whatever Mr. Wainwright's matter may be, it is not the case of other people or other statutes," Mr. Mayers continued. "Procedure must be followed by the taxing officer. If he is wrong, it is his duty to follow the summary procedure and drastic action to put me out of my land, they must learn to act in conformity with what the act tells them they may do and not act by their own convenience. The plaintiff's legal rights in this case cannot be taken away on the grounds that if they are not, the results may be very hard on Mr. Wainwright."

Mr. Mayers also objected that the board charged up the 15 per cent penalty on unpaid taxes from a wrong date, and that Mr. Wainwright had tried to sell the land for taxes that were in arrears for less than twenty-four months, whereas the law says that such land can be sold only for taxes in arrears for more than twenty-four months.

C. H. O'Halloran, counsel for the irrigation board, declared the "injunction should never have been granted." He argued that back of the mortgage obligation the persons affected are in fact the owners, although they do not pay the taxes. Mr. O'Halloran is continuing his argument this afternoon.

COAL IMPORTS INVESTIGATION

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 16. — Would the Dominion Government take action against the Montreal importers of British and Scotch anthracite as a result of the report of F. A. McGregor, registrar under the Combines Act, if the Quebec government did not do so? asked E. J. Garland, U.F.A. Bow River, in the Commons yesterday evening. The matter was one for thorough consideration, replied Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, who was leading the government.

Quiet Campaign Is Followed By General Election

Predictions Are Coalition Government Will Gain Overwhelming Mandate

Canadian Press

Capetown, South Africa, May 16.—South Africa will go to the polls to-morrow to endorse or renounce its ten-week-old coalition government after one of the quietest election campaigns in the country's history. The government, with seventy-eight members of the House of Assembly, given acclamations out of a total of 150, appeared likely to gain an overwhelming mandate.

Alliance of the two major parties, the Nationalists and South Africans, under the premiership of General J. B. M. Hertzog more than two months ago removed virtually all contentious issues from the campaign. Both the Prime Minister and General Jan C. Smuts, Deputy Premier and South African party leader, pledged themselves to a policy of non-racialism and national reconstruction.

Only in the contest between the small group of "coalitionists" led by Hertzog and members of the two main parties did any issue appear. The matter was one for thorough consideration, replied Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, who was leading the government.

Mr. Garland wanted the report made public and was supported by Humphrey Mitchell, Labor, Hamilton East. The province of Ontario had taken no action in the brokerage prosecution cases until Alberta had done so, asserted Mr. Garland, and publication of the report would bring the matter to the attention of the public.

FIRE LEAVES 1,500 HOMELESS

Buildings Destroyed in Auburn, Maine, Blaze Reported at Total of 213

Fire Believed to Have Been Caused By Explosion in Garage

By Charles H. Guppli, Associated Press Staff Writer

Auburn, Me., May 16.—Sunrise to-day found the New Auburn suburban section of this city, inhabited principally by families of French-Canadian extraction, a smoldering ruin, devastated by a fire which in less than five hours yesterday consumed more than 200 buildings and made 1,500 of more persons homeless.

It was Maine's second conflagration in a little more than a week. A large part of the city of Ellsworth was destroyed by a week ago Sunday night by a $2,000,000 fire of incendiary origin.

PRECEDED BY EXPLOSION

Officials scouted reports that Auburn's calamitous blaze was the work of firebug. City Manager Frederick W. Ford spoke of reports of an explosion preceding the outbreak of flames and said he believed an oil or gasoline blast in the garage where the fire originated was responsible for the conflagration.

Through the night city assessors and fire underwriters worked in the glare of still flaming ruins to check the extent of the losses. Manager Ford said 213 buildings of all descriptions had been destroyed. The number of homes lost he placed at more than 1,500.

A strip, one-half mile wide and approximately one and one-half miles long, was burned out along the west bank of the Androscoggin River.

TROOPS ON DUTY

The National Guard Company here was called out for police duty, and fire apparatus from Lewiston, across the river, as well as numerous small towns in this section of the state joined in the fight.

The blaze got a big start on the eastern, more than a score of the wooden buildings in the business section of new Auburn being in flames before they reached the scene.

JUDGES' AGES

DEBATE TOPIC

Senators Voice Views on Salary and Pension Bill

Ottawa, May 16.—Adjournment was taken in the Senate yesterday evening on the debate on the second reading of the bill which would reduce the salaries of judges after they reach the age of seventy-five to the amount they would receive as pensions if they retired.

During the discussion, which lasted most of the afternoon session, Sir Allen Aylesworth, Liberal, Toronto, declared if the bill was not a breach of contract it was a breach of good faith. If the bill came to the committee he would move it only after to judges appointed in the future and not to those who had accepted appointments in the past on the understanding they would receive a certain salary until they retired.

Senator C. P. Beaubien, Conservative, Quebec, also opposed the bill and said the government was not to be allowed to take away from the judges what they had earned. He stated the retiring age for judges was seventy-five, but the Dominion Parliament had no authority to fix an arbitrary retiring age for provincial court judges.

AT $3,000 TO $7,000
Senator Murdoch did not think it was any injustice to the judges to say to them that after they had reached seventy-five years that they must take $3,000 or $6,000 or $7,000 a year, the amount of their pensions, instead of the salaries they had been receiving.

Senator G. P. Graham, Liberal, Ontario, opposed the bill on the ground it was "pussy-footing." If a man was unfit to occupy the position of judge because of his advanced age, then he should be forced to retire.

Commons Speeds Voting of Funds As Session Nears End

Last of Main Estimates and Half of Supplementaries Passed Yesterday Evening

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 16.—With a last-minute rush, the Commons yesterday evening passed the last item in the main estimates and more than half the supplementaries.

The main estimates this year totaled $358,656,400, a decrease from last year of $6,227,700. The supplementaries for this year, presented earlier in the day by Finance Minister Rhodes, totaled $2,087,954.

Jumping from department to department, the House, in a generous mood, passed several millions of dollars rapidly as the items were called by the chairman. The full votes were passed for the Departments of Trade and Commerce, Agriculture and Pensions.

CATTLE AND OIL
The long expected discussion of the proposed cattle-oil barter with Russia which was to be the fore a few months ago took place. Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, said the proposition had come to him for information, and he had provided it as he would to anyone interested in promoting livestock sales. He had not been asked for special sympathy or encouragement on the project.

The discussion brought the veteran cattleman, Col. H. A. Mullins, Conservative member for Marquette, Man., into action with what he termed an "expose" of G. G. Serkau, promoter of the scheme, and an appeal for a little common sense in dealing with the livestock industry.

"Serkau had his hand in the public treasury of Manitoba years ago," said Col. Mullins. "He wanted to dip in here for $4,000,000 when he had obtained hundreds from Manitoba."

The deal was the most foolish thing he had ever heard of, said Col. Mullins. It would be impossible to ship cattle to Russia and deliver anything but shadows. It meant a voyage of twenty-two days and twelve days at sea was the most cattle could stand.

"Thank God we have a man at the head of affairs in this country who is not afraid to say no," said Col. Mullins.

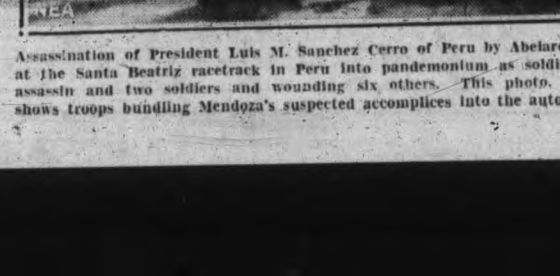

VETERANS' ALLOWANCES

When the House was in committee on pensions it discussed the administration of the War Veterans' Allowance Act throughout Canada. Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions, told the House the vote of $1,600,000 for disbursement under the provisions of this act would be the last of that department's appropriation. Following a brief discussion, the item carried.

The minister detailed the disbursements made in the various districts throughout the Dominion, as follows: Montreal $118,621, Halifax $95,418, Ottawa $70,806, Toronto $277,499, London $82,620, Winnipeg $129,206, Regina $71,950, Calgary $102,910, Vancouver $267,270 and Saint John $40,953.

In some areas efforts were being made to stir up discontent among the ex-soldiers, said the minister, particularly in Montreal. That agitation was creating a dissatisfaction that was en-

COUNCIL TURNS DOWN BANQUET

Mayor Taylor of Vancouver Protests Action on Science Congress Entertainment

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 16.—Voting in the face of Mayor Louis D. Taylor's protest, the City Council, by a majority of one, yesterday afternoon refused to sanction expenditure of $1,000 for a dinner in honor of important visitors who will be in Vancouver next month attending the Pacific Science Congress.

Protesting against the action of the council, Mayor Taylor said: "I am ashamed to have this news go all over the world. It only goes to show the playmate nature of your actions. You have done to-day just as you've often done before—made a laughing stock of Vancouver."

"Some time ago we had a fuss about spending $200 to give a dinner to the visiting Japanese squadron and afterwards they slapped us in the face by sending us a cheque for $500."

Some aldermen objected to the expenditure in view of the severe cuts made in city departments.

Ald. A. G. Harvey protested it was not the mayor's duty to censure the council.

The vote was:

In favor of grant—Aldermen G. C. Miller, W. J. Twiss, J. McRae, Warner Lock, R. N. Fraser—5.

Against the grant—Aldermen A. C. G. Harvey, H. J. de Graves, A. C. Cowan, Walter Deftford, J. H. Shinnick, L. D. McDonald—6.

BACON TRADE

When the House was in committee on the agricultural estimates, D. M. Kennedy, U.F.A. Peace River, said that in spite of the quota established for Canadian bacon in the British market as a result of the Imperial Economic Conference agreement last year, Danish bacon had continued to enjoy an advantage of 10 per cent over Canadian bacon.

Mr. Kennedy requested that the minister, Hon. Robert Weir, institute an inquiry into the matter if it was not soon remedied.

The spread between the best Danish and the best Canadian bacon was from eight to ten shillings per hundredweight, Mr. Weir replied. Restrictions imposed on importations into the United Kingdom of Danish bacon had reduced these by 20 per cent. However, the Danes had been enabled, by that very reduction, to raise the average standard of bacon, for in their finished product they were now cutting from the sides five or six pounds of the inferior portion, with the result that the general average was raised.

ON THE RAIL

Mr. Weir declared the Danes enjoyed an advantage in that their grading was all done "on the rail." Efforts were being made in Canada to put this into effect. Producers whose hogs were graded "on the rail" would have to wait until these were slaughtered before they got paid.

E. J. Garland, U.F.A. Bow River, predicted the time would come when Canadian bacon would be imposed for export. He said there were reports packers in Canada had flooded the United Kingdom market with inferior grades to the detriment of the trade as a whole.

A plea for a marketing board was made by Alfred Speakman, U.F.A. Red Deer. He said bacon had been shipped overseas as number one grade that was not equal to the standard.

INSURANCE RULES

The House gave third reading yesterday afternoon to a bill respecting Canadian and British insurance companies. The measure extends the list of securities in which insurance companies may invest and gives the Finance Department further power to regulate the return of securities in regard to the winding up of companies.

Third reading was given to a bill amending the Senate and House of Commons Act. The measure places senators in the same category as members of Parliament, relieving them from liability for penalties by virtue of loaning money to the government in holding government loan certificates.

VOTED BY SENATE

The Senate yesterday gave third reading to the bill amending the customs tariff in conformance with the changes announced in the budget. The measure also confirms the practice of placing a fixed value on the British pound for duty purposes.

TRADE TREATY SENT TO SENATE

Commons Quickly Gives Third Reading to Pact With France

Canadian Press

Ottawa, May 16.—Three days after the official signing, the Commons yesterday afternoon passed through all stages legislation approving the Franco-Canadian trade convention. It was signed here Friday afternoon, and yesterday the House sent the bill to the Senate after third reading.

The trade pact, to be in force one year, was designed as the fore-runner to a more elaborate treaty. It was explained. It covers a wide exchange of goods, granting tariff concessions and, in some instances, quota preferences.

Secretary of State Cahan said he was not holding out to wheat producers hopes of selling large quantities in the French market unless the French crop failed. France, wishing to be independent of foreign foods in case of war, had rigid wheat regulations.

One of the ultimate features of the present agreement, said Mr. Cahan, might be the concessions granted Canada in the French colonial empire with its $1,300,000,000 annual trade and 60,000,000 people.

TIME NEEDED

Hon. James Macmillan, Liberal, South Bruce, Ont., said he had no objection to the principle of a treaty being made with France.

Whatever exception he might take, said Mr. Macmillan, was to the treaty being brought into the House at such a late time in the session. This gave members no opportunity to examine it.

The new treaty would run for a year. In Mr. Macmillan's opinion it would require a whole year to experience whether it worked well or not, and to determine what the actual import rates were. At present there was considerable confusion in that respect.

Free City of Danzig, May 16.—In case Danzig Nazis seize power after the election May 28, existing treaties between Danzig and Poland will be most fully respected. Nazi party leaders yesterday assured Helmer Rosting, League of Nations high commissioner, "We want friendly relations with Poland and shall do everything to safeguard Polish property and Polish citizens in Danzig," the party leaders said.

WHAT WILL HITLER SAY TO THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL?

President Roosevelt's appeal to disarmament has been met by a direct appeal to them to disarm and abandon war as a means of settling international differences. Hitler is expected to repeat in the Reichstag to-morrow what he has been saying recently—that his country has the right to rearm and intends to do so. He may decide to think better of it in the light of Mr. Roosevelt's appeal.

The President's statement, printed elsewhere in this issue of The Times, will arouse widespread interest. Its simplicity and commonsense are bound to make an impression upon all the governments to which it has been addressed. Mr. Roosevelt wants the weapons of aggression entirely eliminated, an undertaking that no nation will send any armed force across its border, and a pledge that "petty" national aims shall be forgotten. He finally asks that all join together sincerely to assure peace and economic recovery, while he also warns that if any nation interposed obstructions, the civilized world would "know where the responsibility for failure lies."

This message from the President of the United States breaks upon the world while war clouds hang ominously over Europe, while Japanese troops are advancing farther into China, and while other little wars are going merrily on. It contains the plain statement that the Disarmament Conference has been laboring for many weary months at Geneva without accomplishing any satisfactory results; and the implication behind his words is that until material disarmament has been agreed upon, and international friendship assured, the prospect of economic peace will be poor indeed. A part of Mr. Roosevelt's appeal follows:

A profound hope of the people of my country impels me, as the head of their government, to address you and, through you, the people of your nation. This hope is that peace may be assured through practical measures of disarmament and that all of us may carry to victory our common struggle against economic chaos. To these ends the nations have called two great world conferences. The happiness, the prosperity, and the very lives of the men, women and children who inhabit the whole world are bound up in the decisions which their governments will make in the near future. The improvement of social conditions, the preservation of individual human rights, and the furtherance of social justice are dependent upon these conditions.

The President says the World Economic Conference must come to its conclusions quickly; the world can not wait deliberations long drawn out. It is to the point that he should express himself. The Disarmament Conference has been in session, on and off, for more than a year, and the delegates in attendance, with few exceptions, have never addressed themselves to the real business of their deliberations. When genuine disarmament has been proposed the delegate proposing it has been glared at and almost shown the door. For months on end qualitative and quantitative have been discussed. The delegates have got themselves all tangled up with technicalities of every conceivable kind. It has been a grand and glorious picnic for the experts in war material, while there have been many evidences of the sinister shadow of the armament trust. So, as far as the Geneva Conference is concerned, practical disarmament seems about as far off as it did when the gathering first convened. Practically every proposal put forward has been based on the assumption that there always will be war.

The plain fact should appeal to every taxpayer—who pays for and suffers through war, who is footing a greater bill for armaments to-day than he was before the "war to end war" was fought—that the only way to disarm is to disarm.

THE MODERN EXODUS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Some political observers predict that there will be very few candidates in the provincial election who will proclaim themselves to be supporters of the present government. Saanich, of course, will nominate one out-and-out standard-bearer, since the Premier, who will be nominated there, can not be expected to repudiate himself. It is not improbable that Victoria Conservatives also will nominate four candidates who will carry the government banner, for one of the sitting members is a member of the government.

Likewise, we may expect Mr. Pooley to see that the government is represented in the contest in Esquimalt, since the Attorney-General is not the sort to strike his party colors merely because the outlook is threatening. Beyond these constituencies, the prospects point to an exodus on a large scale from the government party fold, in spite of Mr. Twigg's admonition to nominate candidates in the impressive name of the "Government Conservative Union Party." These recruits evidently feel that their divorce from the government is a political asset.

But what the deserters guilelessly overlook is the public reaction to their desertion. They forget that their pseudo conversion to independence or Bowser Conservatism, comes to late, that in the public mind they are parties to the governmental record which they now repudiate. Having supported the government for five years, having approved of everything that has been done by that government, both in caucus and in the House, during that period, how on earth can they expect any sane elector to attach any importance to their death-bed repudiation of that government, which, of course, implies a repudiation of themselves? Just when did those gentlemen, who approved of every measure the Talmie government proposed, who never uttered a word of criticism, who violently attacked everybody who ventured to oppose the administration, discover that the government was so worthless that they no longer could support it? Not until the very end of the governmental term of office, when they found that the government's prospects of re-election were hopeless. Only then did they find any virtue in Mr. Bowser's non-party movement, which derives nine-tenths of its support from Conservatives who have "rattled" from the Talmie ship, and who, by the way, "rattled" from the Bowser ship at Kamloops six years ago, and who would "rat" back to the Talmie ship to-morrow if the political barometer were not so low.

How Mr. Bowser must enjoy that picture—for Mr. Bowser has a sense of humor—and how must Dr. Talmie regret that he was induced against his inclination to assume the leadership of a party which sycophantically crawled before him when the horizon was clear, just as it crawled before Mr. Bowser when everything looked rosy, and abandoned both in turn when the political weather became squally!

What the Premier should have done was to kick his party overboard months ago, before it had time to abandon him. The only thing he has to be thankful for is that the deserters have not taken his clothes.

THAT UNNECESSARY AND FUTILE MEAL TAX

One of the first things the public will expect the new Legislature to do will be to repeal the meal tax. The imposition of that tax was incredibly foolish, since it is without a solitary redeeming feature. It will not justify itself in point of revenue, for all the treasury will get out of it is chicken feed. It already has become an object of derision abroad, prospective visitors have been warned to stay away from this province on account of it, and as that warning will have considerable effect, the province will lose many times the amount of the tax at a time when it can not afford to lose anything. Finally, it is one of those political blunders which Talleyrand described as worse than a crime.

All governments, whether good or bad, are at a disadvantage in hard times, but when they resort to inexpressible foolish and futile expedients they not only add fuel to the smoldering fires of public discontent, but confirm the public's opinion that they are hopelessly incompetent and should not be entrusted with the administration of the public business on that account. In all of the circumstances Hon. J. W. Jones has made out the best possible case for the government, and if he had been called in sooner would have done even better, but the public will forget everything but the nuisance taxes, which usually are more troublesome than profitable.

No tax should be imposed exclusively from the standpoint of prospective revenue. Governments always should consider the effect upon the public, the cost of collecting, the possibilities of evasion and the relation of the tax generally to business. In Canada there are many taxes which are actually barriers to the country's progress, which really cost much more in business dislocation and interference than the revenue that is derived from them. For instance, where can British Columbia benefit from a tax which might produce $50,000 a year in revenue if its imposition drives five million dollars' worth of tourist traffic from the province?

Whether the meal tax is ultra vires or not, is for the courts to determine, and only by recourse to legal processes is there the slightest possibility of the suspension of this ridiculously unnecessary and ineffective charge. Otherwise only the Legislature can nullify it.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A TEN-POUND TROUT
The Brandon Sun

Bigger than the biggest Loch Leven trout previously known to have been taken in Canada, one of these fish weighing ten pounds two ounces was recently caught in the Cypre, Hills area of Saskatchewan. This big fellow was caught in a part of the country where there were no trout at all until the Loch Leven species were introduced there by the Dominion Department of Fisheries prior to the transfer of Saskatchewan fisheries administration to provincial control several years ago. It's another striking proof of the effectiveness of intelligent fish culture.

JESTY, FORERUNNER OF JENNER
Science

A correspondent of The London Times writes from Bournemouth recently that the evidence supplied by an inscription on a gravestone in the parish churchyard of the village of Worth Matravers, near Swanage, Dorset, shows that Edward Jenner, who discovered inoculation by cowpox or vaccination, as a preventive of smallpox, was forestalled by two years by Benjamin Jesty, a Dorset farmer. The facts are known to the medical profession, but not generally.

Edward Jenner's first inoculation by cowpox is recorded as having been made on a boy in May, 1776. Jesty's gravestone inscription shows that he inoculated his wife and two sons with cowpox in 1774. The gravestone was noticed recently by a medical man now practicing in Bournemouth, who was walking through Worth Matravers.

The inscription relates that Benjamin Jesty "was an upright, honest man; particularly noted for having been the first person known that introduced the Cow Pox by inoculation, and who from his great strength of mind made the Experiment from the Cow off his Wife and two Sons in the year 1774." Adjoining Benjamin Jesty's grave is that of his wife, and the fact that she died at the age of 84 in 1824, fifty years after the experiment, proves fairly conclusively that the experiment made on her by her "strong-minded" husband did not affect her health.

Loose Ends

The public cruelly deceives its masters, who imagine they are deceiving it—Mrs. Longworth chooses to chop up an important subject to dredge up memories—the diggers find many jolly things around Victoria—and we are still close to antiquity.

By H. B. W.

ATTENTION S.P.C.A.

SOMETIMES I think we are far too hard on the men who govern us—sometimes, but not often. Anyway, after a trip through the interior which would be enough to show any real politician that his party, of whatever sort, was going to win the next election, I have brought back no such information; but I have brought back the certain knowledge that while politicians may be deceiving, they are angels of light and truth compared with the electorate. The politicians imagine that they deceive the voters and the voters invariably agree. I find, however, that the exact opposite is the truth. The voters deceive the politicians in the most cruel, cold-blooded, calculating fashion imaginable.

For example, I spent three days in a certain riding, which I will not locate more definitely than to say it was somewhere on the mainland, not far away, and that its members were not yet met, living in Victoria. During those three days it seemed to me that most of the voters of the riding, and all the chief lieutenants of this unhappy politician came to me and said they would never vote for him again, that they would nominate another candidate, and that, as far as politics was concerned this gent was utterly washed up. He could spend his declining years in selling soap or furniture, instead of spending the public's declining revenues in wanton extravagance.

This is what they told me. But when this statesman went there, what did they tell him? They rallied around in the good old style, slapped him on the back, swore they would never desert him, predicted more glorious victory than ever. I found the same thing elsewhere. The electors would talk boldly behind the statesman's backs, but before their faces they were always complaining. Mother's Day, invariably, appeared in the private about the treachery of politics. In the past I have often wondered at the almost incredible insulation of politicians from the facts of life; marveled that statesmen obviously ruined beyond recovery would continue their business as usual until the morning after the election that the country was behind them. It is now clear to me—they won't believe their enemies and their friends will never tell them the truth.

We have just celebrated that curious anniversary, Mother's Day, conceived apparently by some disgusting fellow who required a public demonstration to make him observe the ordinary human instinct. I am about to take up subscriptions and start a much more necessary movement. Will the aid of the S.P.C.A. I am about to inaugurate a Be Kind to Statesmen Week, in which all politicians of all parties will be told by their friends exactly where they stand. And yet, so contrary is human nature, I doubt that the politicians will consider it kindness when they have been told.

WITH VICTORY

MRS. NICHOLAS LONGWORTH, daughter of the late Theodore Roosevelt and known in pre-war days as Princess Alice, has been regaling the American public of late with her reminiscences, which are most enlightening. She comes in her last installment, to get the United States into the war and Wilson was trying to keep it out. And rather crudely she disinters and ridicules Wilson's demand for "peace without victory."

This is about the most inopportune time that Mrs. Longworth could choose to hold Wilson's views up to the scorn of the American people. For we got peace with victory. We took our vengeance of it to partition up the German Empire and hand it around. We ordered Germany to pay an impossible sum in reparations and the American people loaned her billions of dollars with which, for a time, she paid these reparations, and which the American people will never see again. We piled up vast debts which, for the most part, the American taxpayers will assume. We framed a peace treaty which created an impossible economic situation in Europe, sowed the seeds of bigger and better wars, and set up a military system and an array of armaments which make the pre-war arrangements seem like a Salvation Army service on Saturday night. We inevitably forced a rebirth of militarism in Germany, to prevent which we had fought the war, and established military dictatorships in most countries. We scrapped all the ideas of the Wilsons and adopted all the ideas of the Roosevelts. We got peace with victory. But victory for whom? As the intelligentsia say, you're asking me, Mrs. Longworth.

MORE CULTURE

TO the loyal Victorian heart it is always gratifying in the extreme to find some new and unsuspected development of Victorian culture. I suppose it is due to my abysmal ignorance of Victorian culture that I had not heard until to-day of a little cult of Victorians who devote their spare time to disinterring the Stone Age at various points about the city. You would be surprised how close we are in Victoria to the stone, the bone and the cave age; nor is this intended as a cheap and nasty reference to that great structure of stone and bone and caves across James Bay. I mean literally, we are close to the remains of races as ancient as the Romans, more primitive than the first Egyptians, close to the original Neolithic men who are supposed to have been the ancestors of us all.

This little cult of enlightened diggers is not interested merely in Indian arrow heads and the remains of the present Coast tribes, which are occasionally found about here. It goes back into the misty past and along our seashores or in our hills it finds implements which were old when the first Indians came here. I have just met a fellow who has a room full of such stuff which he picked up on his week-end rambles. He tells me that he knows generally where to look for it, on the sites of prehistoric villages, the homes of people who looked more grotesque, more like gorillas than many of our present-day Victorians.

Near Lytton, he says, there is a vast mound in which these people probably buried their dead and various implements with them for hundreds and hundreds of years, and while you are not allowed to dig into it, you can often find curious remnants, little pieces of pottery and chipped flint, lying about the surface. Around Sooke and Cowichan, they say, are the clearly-defined embankments of ancient forts, now grown over with trees. The erosion of clay banks, along the seashore of the Saanich Peninsula sometimes reveals strange things buried before the Norman Conquest. It is really quite intriguing to realize how close we are here to original barbarism and "remains" antiquity. I have sometimes suspected it dimly before, and without excavation, without searching further than Douglas Street.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THE MOCKING BIRD IN LOVE
 The tender green is budding now
 Along each forest way
 On dusty earth and barren bough
 The grave young leaflets stray
 This is the time when robins sing
 Where flying clouds ship move,
 And songs of restful arise:
 The mocking bird's in love!

Oh, where is music like to this,
 In any land or clime?
 This mountain madrigal of bliss
 What song that man has ever made
 Where flying clouds ship move,
 Until, beyond all doubt and shade,
 Each listener's heart is true
 The spring's enchantment prove:
 The mocking bird's in love!

One of the most interesting forms of sport on Vancouver Island is that of shooting panther. A number have been killed of late, and the skins have provided fine trophies. Not only that, but the sum of $15 collected from the government as bounty proves quite lucrative.

The latest move in the rat war between the C.P.R. and the Inland Navigation Company, according to a Seattle dispatch, is an arrangement by the latter concern that it will place the steamer Rosalie in commission Tuesday on the night run from Seattle.

The bathing pavilion, the white elephant of the Tourist Association, is at last to be put to some use. It will be rented by a lady resident on the Dallas Road, who will put the building in condition and run it as a bath and dressing room, and at the same time retail ice cream and other dainties.

Fresh from the hands of her builder, William Turpel, the steamer Leebro left this afternoon on her trial trip. The Leebro is owned by Leeming Brothers, who also own and operate the steamer Cascade.

The usual monthly general meeting of the Naval Veterans' branch No. 42 of the Canadian Legion will be held in the club rooms, Friday evening, at 8 o'clock.

THE MEAL TAX

To the Editor:—Victoria, in fact all British Columbia, can now boast a great attraction to tourists, as Victoria has the questionable honor of imposing the first fine of $5 and $2 cost on a visitor from Winnipeg for refusing to pay a food tax on a meal consumed on a C.P.R. boat. Had I been in Mr. Suberland's place I should not have paid the fine, I should have let the authorities do their darnest.

I am a law-abiding citizen and try to obey all laws, but this latest of all crazy laws is the last straw. The Publicity Bureau of British Columbia expend thousands of dollars annually to attract tourists, and almost invariably in the past the Legislature has made some foolish move to hinder tourists coming. This tax is an annoyance, to say the least, and will not have the results that Mr. Jones expected, and should be repealed forthwith. P. BERTRAM.

Victoria, May 15, 1933

A CONTRAST

To the Editor:—Methods of business in the Provincial Government in the ways and means of finance provide an interesting contrast. The Liquor Board (Alcohol-General department) under a business head has grasped a fundamental principle of business, a large turnover and a small profit, and in order to move the bottles reposing on the shelves of the liquor stores, has reduced the permit to 25 cents and generally made it easier for the customer.

The Minister of Finance, on the other hand, stands pat on the motor license and would rather see cars decelerating in the garage and vacant lots than devise a simple system of easier payments in this period of stress. Incidentally collecting the tax on gas, helping the oil stations and gas men and providing more employment. The Hon. Mr. Jones, it seems, would rather run on commandeered money from his 1 per cent tax, which has largely to be refunded at the end of the year at a good deal of expense and wasted time, or turn decent people into law evaders with his meat tax, rather than adopt something which would prove a boon to many and give tangible and not problematical revenue.

If five years has not caused the Minister of Finance to lose faith in the government, and like his colleague, the Speaker of the House, resign, the general public has lost faith in him and his schemes and would suggest that course. LAWRENCE SAMSON.

To the Editor:—I am enclosing you an article, from The Denver Post, of late date entitled, "Choose a Job That Hurts," rather appropriate at the present time don't you think?

PUDLO.

Do you want to say young, active, eager and magnetic? Want to keep your enthusiasms and your place in the Big Parade? Want to be as vital at sixty as you were at sixteen? There's one way of doing it—and only one.

Make life hard for yourself! Keep life hard for yourself! Choose a job that hurts! This, of course, isn't the sort of a job most of us are looking for. Many thing but! We want a soft snap—easy hours, good pay, no interference or difficult demands. We are trained to desire that sort of a job when we're youngsters. Constantly we hear of "lucky people" who have jobs like that. If, eventually, we land such a (Turn to Page 16, Col. 4) rather derisively entitled, "mama's girl," or "mama's boy." Such a child probably has no more affection for the parent than one less apron tied, but the companionship does evidence a most undesirable state of affairs, with the mother taking the place of other children in the recreational activities of her child.

CHILD NEEDS COMPANIONSHIP OF OTHER CHILDREN

MOTHER STEPS IN

This situation usually occurs in the family where there is one child, or where one child is so much younger than the other children that there is little chance for companionship. Then mother steps in. She takes the child on shopping expeditions, she lunches, goes to movies, and plays golf with him. Everywhere we see the duo, mother and son, until we hardly think of one without the other.

The mother wears a consciously self-righteous expression. Her duties to the child always outweigh all other considerations. "I have to do this for Robert" is a stock excuse. It is impossible for her to recognize the injustice she does the child. Some healthy companionship with parents is part of a child's life. When it is carried to the point where other associations are crowded out, it becomes not a joy and a blessing, but something in the nature of a tragedy for the child.

HARM IS DONE

No mother, however sympathetic and interesting, can take the place of other children. When the child comes to prefer the mother's companionship to that of other children, the harm has already been done. Such an association prevents the child from receiving the stimulation, the give and take, which can come only from children of his own age. He is prevented from learning how to get along in a society which demands something of him, demands that he be unselfish, that he conform.

The adult mother and son combinations start often from just such beginnings. Gradually the child's inability to be happy with his own social group turns back on to his mother. Then they build their lives accordingly. We should not be derisive, but pitying of children drawn into this net of lavish, strangling, parental devotion.

HEARN'S WIFE
DEAD IN JAPAN

Japanese Lady For Whom Famous Author Gave Up Christianity Passes Away

Lived in Retirement in Her Japanese Garden Since Hearn's Death in 1904

After living in retirement at her home in Tokyo since the death of her husband, Lafcadio Hearn, in 1904, Setsuko Kizumi, the Japanese wife of the famous writer on Japanese life and customs, has passed away at the age of sixty-nine, according to word brought to Victoria over the week-end by passengers who arrived from the Orient by the Ms. Helan Mars. She is survived by three sons and a daughter.

ROMANCE OF EAST AND WEST

The union of Lafcadio Hearn and the Japanese lady of noble birth makes a romantic story of the blending of east and west in happily married life. For his Japanese sweetheart Hearn did something that is almost unparalleled in history and romantic fiction. He renounced his own nationality, religion and name. He became a loyal subject of the Emperor of Japan, accepted Buddhism for his religion and took a Japanese name. He was married by a Buddhist priest in one of the beautiful ancient Buddhist temples. At his own request he was given a Japanese funeral, his remains were cremated and his ashes placed in a Satsuma urn and laid to rest in the lovely old-world Japanese garden of his wife's home. Now his wife's ashes rest beside his.

BORN IN EUROPE

The death of Hearn's wife recalls the colorful life of her husband. In 1884 a young Irish officer named Charles Hearn was sent to Greece with his regiment—the 7th Foot Guards. Soon after his arrival there he married Rosa Cerigote. Her family was angry and threatening to kill the young officer. The couple fled to the near-by island of Lafcadio and there a son was born. He was named after the island. Later they went to Dublin, where another child was born. After a year or two the mother fled to Greece and never saw her children again.

Young Hearn grew up in Ireland and England. When he was nineteen he came to America and landed in New York with only a dollar in his pocket. He went to Cincinnati and found employment there as a typesetter on a newspaper. He studied a great deal, and earned an assignment for the paper in Japan. There he met Setsuko Kizumi, a member of an illustrious family of Japan. They were married and lived in a tiny house of bamboo and paper, full of strange porcelain and lacquer. They had three children. Much of their time was spent in their miniature Japanese garden, with its stone lanterns, tiny bridges and waterfalls. There Hearn died and there his wife lived in retirement for nearly twenty years after his death. There also she died and there rest her ashes in an urn.

WROTE MANY BOOKS

Lafcadio Hearn took the Japanese name of Yukumo Koudzumi, and wrote many books during his residence here. The best known of his works are "Glimpses of Unfamiliar Japan," "Japan, an Interpretation," "Out of the East" and "Some Chinese Ghosts." It is interesting to Victorians to know that Mrs. Adams Beck, who lived here many years and became widely known as a writer, under the pen name of E. Barrington, was a close personal friend of Lafcadio Hearn's widow. Mrs. Beck lived in Japan some time before her death a few years ago, and, like Hearn, forsook Christianity for Buddhism. She died at her Japanese villa at Kyoto, and Mrs. Hearn often visited each other.

SLACKS AND PYJAMAS ARE

Delightful Garments For Summer Days Displayed at Hudson's Bay Store

Frocks in Adorable Coloring and Becoming Style Modelled By Mannequins

"Summer is a-comin' in" sang the poet of long, long ago, and the cheering thought must have been shared by the many spectators at yesterday's informal fashion show at the Hudson's Bay Company store, where outing frocks, the newest "slacks" beach pyjamas in vivid colorings, and bathing suits of minimum proportions but maximum smartness, hinted of long days on the beach on the drowsy heat of summer.

Staged in the dress department, the mannequins, who included little June Gibson and Dorothy Graham to show children's styles, and Ruth de Gruchy, Phyllis Williams, Gladys Cook, Eileen Ealer, Kay Miles, "Babe" Pennock and Helen Holmes, paraded on an L-shaped runway before the large throng of spectators, who noted with satisfaction the reasonable price of the many attractive models shown.

SMART OUTING FROCKS

In the first group rayon and pique outing frocks in delightfully simple but becoming styles were shown. Many of the frocks were made of plain colors, with perhaps a narrow edging of a contrasting shade on the collar or pockets, and most of the sleeves were of the short puff style. Here and there was a sleeveless model, specially adapted for sports.

The linen and wool jersey frocks were of lovely soft coloring, and the hats were of the same shades, though white was popular with some of the blue and yellow frocks. The skirts were chiefly flared, and higher necks than those worn last year were a distinctive feature.

A red and white striped frock was particularly smart, and a red linen with fresh snowy white collar, made wide over the shoulders, was a jaunty holiday dress. Organdie was popular for collar trimming, and brought with it a youthful and well-groomed touch, which was extremely flattering to the wearer.

VIVID COLORS

The colors for summer are more lively than ever, and the print frocks, if worn in the garden, would vie with the flower beds in color and design. Cretonne-like designs and colorings were used in some of the little frocks, with their flared skirts and puffed sleeves, while the comfort of light wool was achieved in several semi-sheer frocks of fine jersey cloth, made of fascinating pastel shades, yet with just the added warmth which is so often needed at the Coast.

SLACKS AND PYJAMAS

"Slacks" of polka-dot and plain material, which promise to achieve great popularity for outing wear, were shown worn with smart sweaters and berets, making a most workmanlike outfit, while beach pyjamas are gay and tender. With these were shown the large Mexican hats, which have almost perfect proportions, or large hats of material to match the pyjamas.

Bathing suits from the famous house of Jantzen reveal abbreviated necks to suit the most ardent disciple of the sun-bathing cult, while orange, green and blue seem to be popular colors. The children's bathing suits of the newest style were also shown. The fashion show was repeated this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

The United Empire Loyalist Society of British Columbia will hold a meeting for members and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. MINISTER ON
WITNESS STAND

Hon. O. L. McPherson Denies Former Wife's Allegations in Annulment Suit

Canadian Press

Edmonton, May 16.—Categorical denials of many parts of the evidence given by Mrs. O. L. McPherson, Mrs. Lucille McPherson and Mrs. Ada Carroll in their evidence on the plaintiff's side of the case, were made by Hon. O. L. McPherson in supreme civil court yesterday. Mrs. McPherson, who is Minister of Public Works, is the first defence witness in Mrs. Cora McPherson's suit brought in an effort to annul the divorce which her husband obtained from her in 1931.

Mrs. McPherson is asking, in the alternative, that she be granted an order for $75 a month from Mr. McPherson under an oral agreement she alleges or a compassionate allowance.

The Minister of Public Works denied there was any arrangement whereby his wife was to go to Saskatoon to supply evidence for a divorce. Referring to the trip made to the Coast by himself, Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Mattern, who is now Mrs. McPherson, the minister declared Mrs. McPherson invited Mrs. Mattern to go along, and that he could not allow Mrs. Cora McPherson to divorce him due to his position, and that he must at all costs protect his reputation and that of Mrs. Mattern. He also denied saying to her that he admired Mrs. Mattern very much.

Mr. McPherson told a story of finding that his wife was greatly interested in Leroy Mattern and of having her admit to him there was more than a casual friendship between them. He testified that he spoke to Mattern, who denied that the situation was serious as far as he was concerned, and of telling Mattern that as far as Mrs. McPherson was concerned the situation was serious and there was danger of breaking up the McPherson home.

Mr. McPherson also denied intimacies with Mrs. Mattern, as alleged by Mrs. McPherson, he denied he suggested to Mrs. Lucille McPherson that he could not allow Mrs. Cora McPherson to divorce him due to his position, and that he must at all costs protect his reputation and that of Mrs. Mattern. He also denied saying to her that he admired Mrs. Mattern very much.

TRY MACARONI SALADS FOR A CHANGE IN SPRING MENUS

By SISTER MARY

If you yearn for something rather out-of-the-ordinary, try a macaroni salad or two for your late spring meals. These salads are hearty enough to be satisfying as main dish concoctions or they may be served as dinner salads when starchy foods are lacking in the menu.

The cooking of macaroni for salads is most important because there must not be the slightest trace of stickiness or mushiness. Drop macaroni into plenty of boiling water—3 quarts and 1 tablespoon salt to 2 cups macaroni are good proportions—and boil until tender, about 20 minutes. Drain it well and rinse with cold water. Chill and have all the other materials cold, too, before combining them.

MACARONI AND EGG SALAD

One cup cooked macaroni, 2 hard-boiled eggs, 1/2-cup dried celery, 1/2-cup sliced olives, salad dressing, shredded leaf lettuce. You can use broken stick macaroni, elbow, shell, bow-knot or any shape you may choose.

Chop eggs and combine with macaroni, celery and olives. Add salad dressing to make moist and serve on a bed of shredded leaf lettuce. Garnish with halves of stuffed olives. Use olives stuffed with pimentos.

THE HAPPINESS OF MOTHERHOOD

It Depends Upon Health—Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Before my first baby was born I was very ill and dizzy. My husband went to the drug store and bought a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and made me take it according to directions. It certainly built me up. The baby weighed eight pounds and we were both healthy. I have three children now and I am as young looking as the day I was married. It has helped my 17-year old sister, too."—Mrs. J. P. MINNAN, 405 Eleanor St., Montreal, Quebec.

On a bed of shredded new cabbage. One cup cooked and chilled macaroni, 1 cup chopped cold boiled ham, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish, 2 pimentos, 1 cup salad dressing (mayonnaise) or cooked dressing, shredded cabbage. Mix horseradish and ham and combine lightly with macaroni and pimentos which have been cut through. Moisten with dressing and serve on a bed of shredded cabbage sprinkled with French dressing.

MACARONI FRUIT SALAD

One cup cooked macaroni, 1 cup canned diced pineapple, 2 bananas thinly sliced and marinated in lemon juice, 1 cup whipping cream, 1/2-cup pineapple juice, 1/2-cup lemon juice, 1/2-cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4-teaspoon salt.

Mix sugar and cornstarch thoroughly and stir into boiling pineapple juice. Cook in double boiler for twenty minutes stirring occasionally. Add lemon juice and let cool. When ready to use fold in cream whipped until firm with salt. Add macaroni, pineapple, bananas to dressing and serve on lettuce hearts with a garnish of fresh strawberries. If strawberries are not at hand a cube of bright jelly will serve as an attractive garnish.

"The Tangle"

A Novel by

H. LAWRENCE PHILLIPS

Author of "Cap'n Benny" and "A Friendless Millionaire"

"Mr. Manson is speaking." The next words made him whistle softly and, having rung off, look at his watch.

He stood for a moment in the middle of the room irresolute.

"Now I wonder what this means?" he said to himself. "I wonder if there is anything in it?" He looked at the clock once more, and saw that he would have to go off at once. As a matter of fact, he was not going to himself as he did so, he slipped his revolver into his pocket, and letting himself out by the front door went his way.

The Vicar returned on the stroke of eleven, feeling done up and ready for bed. Not finding Manson about, he asked the maid where he was. She professed ignorance, saying that she heard the front door shut about half-past eight, and supposed that the gentleman had gone for a stroll.

Knowing his erratic movements, and feeling too tired and sleepy to wait up for him, he told the maids to go to bed, leaving the door open. He was not very late getting into bed himself. Next morning he came down to breakfast fully expecting to find Manson, but he was not there. He rang for the maid and asked where he was. "I don't know, sir," she replied, "but I saw him go out at half-past eight, and when I went in to pull the blinds up, I found that he wasn't there, and his bed had not been slept in. He can't have gone out last night. I do hope nothing has happened to him, he's such a nice gentleman."

Gray laughed at her fears, and settled himself to his meal. "Poor beggar, what a life! I suppose that he and Ritter are on a hot scent!" He finished his breakfast and went off to his study with his paper and letters, settling himself down to read the former, while he smoked his morning pipe. After this, following his usual custom, he went off to the school, so one way and another he forgot all Manson's absence, and even this failure to put in an appearance at lunch did not awaken any alarm.

It was Ritter who first caught him to be suspicious. He came to find his colleague, and greatly surprised Gray by telling him that he had seen nothing of him since the day before.

"I had to go into Promham yesterday afternoon, and didn't get back till this morning," he wanted to discuss several matters with him," said the Inspector.

"Where do you imagine he has gone? Have you any idea?"

"I haven't the slightest idea, and only the glimmer of a possibility. If you don't mind, I'll be off to ask a question or two, and then I will come back. To tell you the truth, sir, I fancy that attempt on Mr. Estcourt, I fancy that people should not be away too long without inquiries being made. I'm not sure yet that we've not to do with a lunatic. Anyway, I'll make inquiries, and phone to London to find out whether he has been recalled to the Yard for some purpose."

Ritter bustled off, leaving Gray not a little anxious, and waiting somewhat impatiently for his return.

The Inspector had in his mind the possibility of Manson's recall, but he suspected that Gray might have gone off, and his colleague found it necessary to follow.

This idea of his was speedily proved to be baseless, for he caught sight of the Squire in the distance talking to Birks. If he had gone off, he had evidently not stayed long; the explanation that Manson was on his heels would not do. He saw Birks, and then walked off. Ritter hastened his steps to meet the constable, and accosted him.

"Seen anything of Mr. Manson officer?" he inquired.

"Not since I saw him in Court at Promham yesterday, sir," answered Birks, saluting.

"Humph! What was the Squire talking to you about? I thought that he was on the sick list."

"He's better, sir, he told me when I asked; just a slight chill, he said, but he had taken a good remedy last night, and felt quite right this afternoon."

"Oh! I'm glad to hear that. Was it all he had to say?"

"Quite chatty he was, sir; he's a fine old English gentleman. Talked about the game he had been losing through the poachers, and said he hoped I'd 'em by the neck in his keepers' court. I'll lay I could put my hand on one in two minutes, only he's too artful to have as much as a feather in his house."

Ritter was moving off, but once Birks had a listener he did not part with him easily, even though he was a superior officer.

"Very interested in the 'Lindens' business, but there, that's natural, he's the landlord, and if I was in his place I should want to know when I could get my own house back."

"Wanted to know that, did he?" asked Ritter, stopping short.

"Yes, sir, quite anxious about it, and to know whether you had got any fresh news."

The Inspector made a mental note of this, and pursued his way. His next move was to phone to London, and he was chafing badly by the time they put him through.

Uncle Wiggily and the Doll's Teeth

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

As Uncle Wiggily was sitting on the stump in the woods, getting ready to feed Bunty's doll her dinner, as he had promised the little orphan rabbit, all of a sudden he heard a long, low, hoarse, and a little hoarse sound.

"Hi! I wonder what that was?" said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "Could any of the Bad Chaps have followed me through the woods to get the doll's dinner? I hardly think that, for all I am going to feed Bunty's doll are some crumbs of bread and cake. Neither the Fox, the Wolf nor the Bob Cat would eat those."

Thinking that the noise he heard might have been made by the wind, Uncle Wiggily again turned to Bunty's doll, who would open her mouth which had shiny white teeth in it.

"A guess no Bad Chaps will bother you, Little One," said Uncle Wiggily, calling the doll that because he had forgotten to ask Bunty her real name.

"I will give you your dinner and then we'll hop along and look for an adventure, shall we?"

Uncle Wiggily did not expect the doll to answer for, as far as he knew, all she could say, when a spring in her back was wound up, was the one word, "Mamma. But now, all of a sudden, the doll opened her mouth and said:

"Yes!"

"Why, hello!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily in surprise. "You can talk, can you?"

"No!" said the doll, opening her mouth so the rabbit gentleman could see her white teeth.

Uncle Wiggily was so surprised that he nearly dropped the bread and cake crumbs that Nurse Jane had given him with which to feed Bunty's doll her dinner.

"What's this? What's this?" he exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "When I ask you if we shall go adventuring you tell me yes. Then when I ask you if you can talk you say you can't. Now it must be one thing or the other. Can you or can't you?"

"Yes!" spoke the doll and right after that she said: "No!" so poor Uncle Wiggily didn't know which to believe. And then the doll opened her mouth wider and said:

"Mamma! Papa! Yes! No! Yes! No! Yes! No!"

"Ho! I see what has happened," said Mr. Longears as he heard a buzzing sound inside the doll. "I must have wound up your spring tighter than I thought. Now I will feed you some bread and cake crumbs and we shall go looking for an adventure."

"Yes," said the doll and Uncle Wiggily was pleased until, right after that, the doll said: "No!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the rabbit. "This is funny! Well, open your mouth and show me your teeth. The doll opened her mouth and Uncle Wiggily was just going to feed her the bread and cake crumbs as he had been doing when, all of a sudden, the noise he had first heard sounded more loudly and out of the bushes pounced the Wozzie Wolf.

"Oh, ho!" howled the Wolf and he seemed very glad. "At last I have caught you, Mr. Longears. I am smarter than the Bob Cat. I have caught you all by myself!"

"So it seems," said Uncle Wiggily, and he was only an echo. "What are you going to do with me?"

"Do with you? Why, I am going to take you off to my den, to be sure!" answered the Wolf. "Come along!"

"Oh, please!" begged the rabbit. "Well, what is it?" snarled the Wolf. "Before you take me away," spoke the bunny uncle, "will you please feed Bunty's doll these cake and bread crumbs?"

"I was going to just as you popped out. Will you feed Bunty's doll?"

"Yes," growled the Wolf. "I will. Then I'll take you to my den!" The Wolf took the bread and cake crumbs and held them toward the doll's mouth.

"Well, Ritter, the Wolf and he, with her white, sharp teeth, she bit the Wolf so hard upon his paw that the Bad Chap gave a loud howl and way he ran.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, and to him it seemed as if the doll also laughed. "Ha! Ha! Ha!" But he was only an echo.

Anyhow Mr. Longears fed Bunty's doll and then hopped safely home with her. So everything was fine and dandy. And if the game will stop dancing on one leg and splitting the rice pudding out of the oven, I'll tell you next week about Uncle Wiggily and the camp fire.

Cameron's Take Undisputed Lead In Senior Baseball League

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Looking Over the Senior Ball Clubs After Season Opening

Teams Appear Fairly Evenly Balanced and Good Season Expected

Fine Horse Races Expected This Summer With Brilliant Contenders

SENIOR amateur league ball clubs made their debut on Saturday afternoon and the brand of ball offered by the teams was good considering the games heralded the opening of the 1933 season. The Sons of Canada, last year's winners, appear to have collected a formidable looking outfit, well bolstered by the addition of Barnes, a catcher from Vancouver. He has plenty of class, is a good tailor and packs a wicked throw. Moving of Jack Bacon from behind the plate to first base and the shifting of Kim Campbell back to his former position at second base, gives the Sons what should prove to be a smooth-working infield.

Cameron's who made their first appearance worth while by taking Slingers into camp, should be worthy opponents for any of the clubs. McKinnay, a pitcher from Duncan, turned in a creditable performance in his first exhibition on a local mound and should win his quota of games for the lumbermen. Cameron's have a good infield, while their outfield appears well-balanced, although one of their fly chasers failed to display his expected form Saturday, no doubt to nervousness.

Although beaten in their initial appearance, Slingers trotted out a likely looking bunch of material. Their infield, composed entirely of youngsters, went through the seven innings without an error and Kestell's performance at first base was especially good. He handled himself like a veteran and pulled off a couple of catches that drew applause from the crowd. The Tillmans have just about the same club as last season and when they hit their regular stride the clubmen should be in the running. They failed to get very good pitching Saturday. Both Slingers and Tillmans will have to show better work at the plate if they hope to win ball games. Base hits are necessary to any club. The teams appear fairly evenly balanced and a good season should be witnessed.

Some great horse races are in prospect in the season that is now running full blast. Not since the lamented passing of such stars as Exterminator, Grey Lag and Sir Barton have there been such brilliant performers in the handicap division.

C. V. Whitney's Equipse, which won $267,210 in his first two years of racing, and already has performed brilliantly this year, still has a way to go to approach the all-time earnings of Sun Beau—$378,744—but there is a good chance for the horse to come close this year.

In his struggle, however, the great son of Pennant-Swings faces the competition of such fine runners as Gusto, Fairness, Gallant Sir, Plucky Play, Jack High, Questing and probably Burning Blade, Burgoon King, Tick On, Universe, Economic, Boat-swin and Play Pole.

Male is another high money-winning horse that undoubtedly will return to the turf was this year. Male has won sixteen of forty-eight starts for a total of $284,855, a sum that gives him fifth rating among the high money-winners of all time. While Male seemed to have lost some of his brilliant form last year, this is often the case with four-year-olds, and may have little bearing on his five-year-old form.

Off his form at Agua Caliente, Gallant Sir is one to be feared. If the streak of cunning in this great runner can be controlled, his stablemate, Plucky Play, likewise is formidable.

The depression has had a definite effect on handicap racing. Low prices in the yearling market, low prices with the stud books on the breeding farms. Breeders found it difficult to fill the books of their great stallions, and reached the conclusion that good race horses could earn more upon the track than in the stud.

With such horses as Man of War and Gallant-Fox, and the great stallions, good race horses could earn more upon the track than in the stud.

Did You Know That—Arlington Park is installing a totalizer. The Davis Cup players say the atmosphere in Mexico plays havoc with their service. The courts are 6,000 feet in altitude and those drives float like Matthewson's fadeaway. Eddie McGee of Boston offered Art Shires $25,000 a year to fight. After Art said he wouldn't go back to the brush pile for a paltry $5,000 per. Shires will yet become a major league ball player. Johnny Hodapp, who rescued himself after being soaked up at Cleveland, is making a swell comeback. An American League trainer who knows his stuff says he would rather see Hodapp up there in a pinch than Babe Ruth. The reason is that while Hodapp looks alike to Hodapp, Grover or the Marx Brothers.

Gene Sarzanis started off on a 20,000-mile golf tour to condition himself for defence of his United States and British open crowns.

Jack Peterson In Knockout Victory

Cardiff, Wales, May 16.—Jack Peterson, British heavyweight champion, yesterday evening knocked out Heinz Muller, Germany, in the first of their scheduled fifteen-round bout. Five thousand fans dotted the Cardiff City football grounds to see the fight, which lasted only 130 seconds.

GAIN SECOND STRAIGHTWIN AT EXPENSE OF SONS

Bill Holness Hurls Lumbermen to 4 to 3 Victory in Keenly Fought Game

BELCHER MAKES BRILLIANT CATCH

Four-run Rally in First Inning Decides Issue; Lots of Heavy Hitting Seen

Chalking up their second victory in as many starts, at the expense of the Sons of Canada at the Athletic Park yesterday evening, by a 4 to 3 count, Cameron's moved into leadership of the Senior Amateur Baseball League. In their opening fixture last Saturday the Lumbermen nosed out Slingers, 3 to 2. Cameron's drove in their four runs in the first inning and after the Sons came through with a three-run rally in the third, the teams had finished their scoring for the evening. A fair crowd attended.

The teams put on an interesting exhibition with two or three sparkling plays to give the fans an extra thrill. The outstanding individual performance of the evening came in the seventh and final innings, when Claude Belcher, elongated first sacker of Cameron's pulled off a one-handed spear of Jack Bacon's slinging liner down first base line. The smash looked as if it was ticketed for a home run. Belcher stretched full length on the ground after making the catch.

FOUR RUNS—Cameron's got away to a great start in the opening frame. Smith opened the inning by working Musgrave for a walk. He was forced at second by Love. Holness ran for the latter. Esler stole second and scored on Musgrave's wild throw to first. Bridgewood's ground ball, the batter advancing to second. Then the senior fielder, Esler stole second and scored on Musgrave's wild throw to first. Bridgewood's ground ball, the batter advancing to second. Then the senior fielder, Esler stole second and scored on Musgrave's wild throw to first.

The Sons threatened in the second inning by filling the bases with two men away, but Crisp popped up to the pitcher. The Sons got back in the running in the third by reducing their opponent's lead to a single run. Bacon was safe when Belcher hit a single to first. Holman fell a victim to Bill Holness' curve ball. Doherty walked. Gandy's two-bagger sent Bacon home and Doherty to third. Hilton sent up a high fly to Duncin in left field. Barnes lifted the ball against the senior field fence for two bases to score Doherty and Gandy. (Turn to Page 13, Col. 6)

Blue Ribbons To Be Honored

Further honors will be conferred upon Victoria's Canadian champion basketball team, the Blue Ribbons, at a civic banquet in the Dominion Hotel on Friday evening when presentations will be made to the group of hustlers who brought Dominion laurels to this city with their victories over the Windsor-Walkerville Alumni.

Herbert Anscomb, president of the Chamber of Commerce and honorary president of the basketball league, will act as chairman. Tickets may be secured from Wenger's Jewelry Store and at the Dominion Hotel.

MOOSE BEAT MACDONALDS

Give Smart Performance to Gain Softball Victory; Jokers Take Beavers

With Ted "Beano" Fox bearing down heavily in the first six innings, to allow only three runs before he quit the mound in favor of Fokes, Moose wounded Macdonald's Service nine 14 to 7 in yesterday evening's highest-scoring Victoria and District Softball League game at the Central Park, while Jokers, league leaders, staged a smart late rally to defeat the Beavers 4 to 3 in a nip and tuck struggle at Victoria West.

Princess Pats gained their first win of the season with a 9 to 3 decision over Ross Bay at Work Point Barracks.

By humbling the Beavers, Jokers ran their string of victories to five straight and took a two-game lead.

Moose are in third berth with four points and Ross Bay, Macdonald's Service and the Princess Pats in the next bracket with two points apiece.

It was very much of pitching duel between Louis De Costa and Bill Levy in the Jokers-Beavers battle, with the former getting the edge.

In the Service League, Spencers took over the reins from the Jokers and won 11 to 11.

DODGE GIVES LEWIS A WIN

New York, May 16.—An artful dodge by Strangler Lewis when Joe Savoldi launched one of his notorious flying tackles at him yesterday evening, sent the Michigan strong boy hurtling into his first defeat since laying claim to the world heavyweight wrestling title.

But as Joe's claim is not recognized in New York, Lewis previously had announced he would not consider lifting the Savoldi "title" in the event he won.

The bout had gone forty-four minutes thirty-seconds when Savoldi launched his 202 pound in the final tackle. Lewis, all 240 pounds of him, toe-danced inches out of the way and the Michigan youth plunged over the top rope of the ring to land on the Gardner's board floor, a tangled heap. He was counted out before he could regain his wits.

MCCORKINDALE WINNER

Leicester, England, May 16.—Don McCorkindale, South American heavyweight, and recent conqueror of Larry Gains, Toronto, negro British Empire champion, yesterday evening outpointed the German Vincez Bowler in a fifteen-round bout.

McCorkindale, who was in the ring for the first time, won by a decision. The bout was a close one, but McCorkindale was in the ring for the first time, won by a decision. The bout was a close one, but McCorkindale was in the ring for the first time, won by a decision.

Soccer Situation Remains In Muddle

Proposal of Coast League to Affiliate as Association Runs Into Snag

British Columbia Football Association Will Talk Over Matters To-night

British Columbia's tangled football situation will be aired again to-night at Vancouver when the executive of the British Columbia Football Association gathers to discuss the latest angles in the situation. The proposal of the Pacific Coast Football Association to affiliate with the B.C.F.A. as an association has run into a snag with the Dominion of Canada Football Association, so just what the next move will be remains to be seen.

Vancouver, May 16.—Just when everything looked rosy for a settlement of the soccer war between the Coast Football Association and the B.C.F.A., a wire has been received by Secretary Bob Davidson from Secretary Sam Davidson of the D.F.A., in answer to the night-telegram sent to the Dominion secretary Sunday night, intimating that it is impossible to allow the Coast body to affiliate with the B.C.F.A. as an association.

Mr. Davidson's wire reads in part: "Your interpretation of Rule 6 is wrong, as suggested by our council, and if two associations are allowed in the same area, there is bound to be a clash of interests. Clause 10 of our rules makes it imperative for all clubs to be members of district association. This should be no hardship, as your league would be directly affiliated to the provincial body, and local association would only have jurisdiction over your clubs in district cup competitions, entry in which is optional."

MAKE CONCESSIONS

"These proposals give you more provincial concession than the National Soccer League, which comprises teams in four districts and two provinces. We have no power to compel your association to accept that, but can only hope you do so in interests of the game, which we believe you have at heart. A great deal of consideration has been given these proposals by our council, who feel they have gone as far as possible to bring about a settlement."

"We have notified the B.C.F.A. that as soon as your association decides to accept these proposals, Article 1 automatically comes into effect and entries may be received from your clubs for the Dominion championship. If you decide you cannot accept proposals, we can only accept your decision with regret."

Article 1 referred to means the automatic lifting of suspensions on the Coast Football Association and its clubs. Secretary Bob Davidson is transmitting the wire to President Alex Robertson in Victoria, for present appearances indicate that a settlement is now as far off as ever.

A practice of the Jokers junior football team will be held to-morrow evening at 6 o'clock at the Victoria West Park. All players are asked to be present.

ATHLETE DIES FROM INJURIES

Norman Mortimer, Nanaimo, Passes After Being Hurt in Football Match

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, May 16.—Gloom was cast over sport circles to-day when it became known that Norman Mortimer, popular centre-half of Nanaimo Park Rangers, died yesterday evening in hospital following injuries received while playing against the Motor Levels Saturday. His injuries were received when he tried to head a high ball into goal after ten minutes' play. Shortly afterwards he was seized with pain in the abdomen and was taken to hospital.

He was twenty-two years of age and came here four years ago from Spennymore, Durham, England. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mortimer, Haliburton Street, and two sisters, Mrs. Olive Langford, Nanaimo, and Mrs. Gladys Hall in England.

Norman was a fine, husky young athlete and a promising player. He was well liked by all local sportsmen and his passing will be deeply regretted.

Cooke was sent to Newark by the New York Yanks and has been playing left field in brilliant style for the Bears, and hitting the ball hard.

New York, May 16.—The Brooklyn National League Baseball Club yesterday completed reduction of its forces to the twenty-three player limit by selling three players outright to Jersey City and arranging the transfer of three others to International League company.

Outfielder Max Rosenfeld, First Baseman Bud Chany and Pitcher Ed Pippas, brother of George Pippas of the Red Sox, all were delivered to Jersey City without further strings attached. Clancy and Pippas had been with the Skeeters on option.

Western Clubs of American Display Surprising Power

Practically Hold Their Own Against Eastern Outfits in Major Ball League

National Western Outfits Dominate

Pittsburgh Pirates Beat the Phillies to Regain National League Leadership

With the first round of the inter-sectional clashes in both leagues complete and the second scheduled to start to-day, a review of the results show the strength of the National League to be in the western half of the circuit as expected, but contrary to pre-season predictions the western clubs of the American League practically held their own against the powerful eastern outfits.

In the National League, the western clubs won twenty-four and tied one of the forty-two games played along the Atlantic seaboard. The invasion of the west by the New York Yankees, Washington Senators, Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox in the American League added only eighteen victories, however, as compared to seventeen defeats.

The Phillies in the National League and the Cleveland Indians in the American led the advance into foreign territory in the only games played in both leagues yesterday, and both lost. The Pittsburgh Pirates, the measure of the Phillies, 5 to 4, to climb back into the National League leadership with a half-game advantage over the idle New York Yankees, while the Athletics trimmed the Indians, 1 to 0, in a pitching duel between Merritt "Sugar" Cain and Willis Hudlin. Although defeated, the Indians retained a half-game advantage over the Yankees.

Predry Lindstrom was the main factor in the Pirates' triumph, his triple with the bases loaded in the second inning scored three runs.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Pittsburgh, May 16.—Predry Lindstrom's triple with the bases loaded was the sparkplug of an eleven-run attack that sent the Pittsburgh Pirates bounding back into first place in the National League with a 5 to 4 victory over the Phillies yesterday. The triumph gave the Pirates a half-game advantage over the New York Giants, who were idle.

Lindstrom came through with what proved to be a very important hit in the second inning after three successive singles by Vaughan, Piet and Padden had scored the Pirates shortstop. With two out, Lloyd Walker drove into one-bagger, leaving the bases loaded for Lindstrom's triple, which hit the right field wall. R. H. E. Philadelphia..... 4 11 4 Pittsburgh..... 5 11 0 Batteries—Elliot Collins and Davis; Meine and Padden.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Philadelphia, May 16.—Merritt "Sugar" Cain, rookie right-hander, pitched, was stung by hits with the bases on the bases yesterday, and Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Cleveland Indians, 1 to 0, in the league leaders' one-day stand at Shibe Park. Cain, who got two of the A's hits, singled with one out. A walk to Bishop moved the pitcher to second, from where he scored on Ross Granger's single through shortstop.

Although defeated, the Indians retained the lead by a half-game over the New York Yankees, who were idle. R. H. E. Cleveland..... 0 8 1 Philadelphia..... 1 4 4 Batteries—Hudlin and Myers; Cain and Cochran.

Only two games scheduled.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Newark 7, Toronto 3 (twelve innings).

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

St. Paul 7, Minneapolis 10.
